To whom it may concern

One of the best decisions in the building of our new home was to engage Trevor Onn, Lighting Designer.

Trevor was brilliant. His input at first was thought to be advice on placement of lights, and then very shortly we realised his engagement was not just desired, it was essential.

Trevor understood and interpreted our needs for the various spaces internally and externally, and then adapted them into lighting and electrical plans that exceeded anything we could have dreamt up on our own. Now our spaces have not only the necessary level of illumination, they also able to adapt to the many moods that can be required of lighting.

He listened attentively, provided expert advice, chased up supplier contacts (with significant discounts) and then followed up with site visits to liaise the builder and electrician. His attendance was valuable in answering the myriad of electrical questions posed by the contractors, and in all aspects, Trevor went above and beyond.

He was tireless in his pursuit of the right fixture to for the right job. Many of the lighting options Trevor introduced us to, were not available in the main retailers like Beacon etc, many were, for a similar price, were better quality, better aesthetically and had higher functionality.

He reviewed all our changes and input with patience and and through many meetings, he listened attentively and then provided advice on the execution all while maintaining a budget.

We would like to thank Trevor. Our house, especially at night, it truly beautiful. It is unique, and has that finished feel to it, that many people neglect or don't realise the importance of, when building or renovating.

It is like Trevor's lighting designs turned our house from being dressed in mainstream available Target, to Couture. All on budget, and all spaces timeless in their appeal.

Trevor, we cant thankyou enough!! We will definitely call you for our next project!
